DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The specification objection has been withdrawn in view of the amendment filed 03/18/04.

The claim rejection has been withdrawn in view of the amendment filed 03/18/04.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Adams (U. S. Patent No. 5,456,685).

Adams discloses a threaded dilator (12) having a flexible shaft with a tapered bulb/balloon near its distal end. (See figs. 1-2). Further, Adams shows a helical thread with a uniform pitch disposed thereon. It is shown in the figures that the thread height is at least 1/5 the outside diameter of the tube and the thread pitch is not greater than the circumference of the helix. It is further shown that the thread is of uniform pitch.

Art Unit: 3763

(Note: Although the drawings is not scale it is considered that the parts are proportionate.)

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sugiyama et al. (U.S. Patent No. 4,994,032).

See figures 1,11,12,13. The Examiner is taking the position that applicant has claimed broadly and thus, it is broadly interpreted that the helical thread is on the shaft.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 03/18/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The rejection is maintained by the Examiner.

With respect to the Adams et al. reference, applicant has not convincingly argued that the reference does not anticipate the claim. Adams et al. disclose a threaded dilator having a dilator comprising a shaft. The dilator is the balloon catheter and the bulb is the balloon and the helical thread is wrapped helically around the balloon. The reference is broadly interpreted and anticipates the claims. The height of the thread is at least 1/5 the outside diameter of the shaft.

With respect to the Sugiyama reference, the coil of Sugiyama is as much as helical thread as it is a coil. The thread pitch is shown in figures 1,12,13. The Examiner has broadly interpreted applicant's claim and has shown as much as applicant's elected invention in figures 10-15 of applicant's specification. The height of the thread is at least 1/5 the outside diameter of the shaft.

Lacking any further structurally distinguishing features claimed both rejections are being maintained.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
